ALTERATION SALE OF MEN'S AND BOYS' CLOTHING AT THE CENTRAL.

The remodeling of our store begins Jan. 22, 1900, after which date we shall be much handicapped in the sale of goods until the workmen have finished. Taking the same into consideration we have deemed it wise to put such prices onto our clothing that will enable us to sell as much in the next two weeks as is usually sold in six weeks. Necessarilly this means Rock Bottom Prices.

Read the quotations given below that you may realize that this is the chance of a lifetime to obtain seasonable and desirable goods at much less than the cost to manufacture.

This store would rather sell goods for half price than carry them over until next season.

TO BREAK WILL.

Suit by Miss Maude Ernestine Banks

To Break the Will of Her Grandfather

Miles Banks, Brother of the Late Gen. N. P. Banks.

Miss Maude Ernestine Banks of Waltham, Mass., is taking steps to break the will of her grandfather, Miles Banks of New York, who was the brother of the late General N. P. Banks. The value of the estate, which consists principally of real estate in the town of Waltham, is estimated at $100,000.

No mention was made in the will of Miss Banks, of whose existence it is said her grandfather was probably ignorant, owing to the fact that for many years he had been estranged from his only son, Ernest, the father of the girl.

The case will come up in New York city tomorrow before Surrogate Fitzgerald.

Miles Banks died on May 8 last at his residence, 130 West Twenty-ninth street. He executed a will by which he disposed of his estate to various persons. There is a bequest of $1000 to Ernest Banks, but no mention is made as to his relationship to the testator. Whether Ernest is dead or alive is a question for the court to pass upon.

Miles Banks, it is claimed, some 50 years ago, was married in New Hampshire. It is said that the old man lost track of his son, who has not been seen by any of his relatives for about 20 years. Even his daughter does not known whether he is dead or alive.

Miss Banks is an attractive young lady, about 22 years old, and a talented reader. She resides on Harvard avenue, this city, and is well known as a successful professional reader. Her late grandfather, whose will is now in question, has several times visited Waltham, the last occasion being several years ago.

Miss Maud Banks is now in New York with Lawyer Burke regarding the case.

MULE SPINNERS

Hold a Meeting to Consider the Question of Wages.

A meeting of the mule spinners was held Wednesday evening in A. O. H. hall. The meeting, which was well attended, was certainly a very enthusiastic one. It was held for the purpose of considering the matter of a readjustment of the scale of wages.

It is alleged that the Boston Manufacturing company does not pay as high wages to the mule spinners as do the other cotton mills of New England, hence the meeting Wednesday evening, when the matter was deliberated on by the different ones present.

The mule spinners are affiliated with the textile associations, and because their regular scale of wages had not been received at the meeting it was decided to postpone action. It is understood that the [illegible] called a sliding one; that is, that on some parts of the [illegible] wages [illegible] than on [illegible].

The meeting Wednesday evening grew rather animated when it was decided to postpone action until a regulation scale of wages was received. When it is received a committee will be appointed to wait upon the officials of the Boston Manufacturing company and state their grievances.

NEW COUNCIL

Of U. S. I. S. Instituted Wednesday Evening.

The third council of the United States Indemnity society was instituted at 129 Moody street Wednesday evening by President William M. Jones of the Central council, Boston; [illegible] candidates being present.

The new council will be known as "Century council, No. 180, U. S. I. S."

The following officers were elected and installed:

Principal Councillor—James J. Mullen.

Vice Principal Councillor—Arthur C. Jones.

Recorder—V. Frank MacLaughlin.

Warden—Arthur G. Eastman.

The local organizer for this council is William R. Owens, 129 Moody street.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mary McGreggor was held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry Wyman, 102½ Adams street. The Rev. Mr. Spencer of Newton officiated, and there were numerous floral tributes. The burial was in Mt. Feake cemetery.

Thomas Duddy of Elm street is working in Hopedale.

PAYS.

THURSDAY JANUARY 11, 1900

The Reading Chronicle has bloomed out with a brand new heading.

The Republican party in Waltham today is suffering from a surfeit of contestants and a paucity of prizes.

If beer was only available to run the mills, now that the water supply is low!

When a brakeman says "s-station Clematis Brook" how on earth is a stranger to know what he means?

The Boston Herald does not capitalize Satan. It's pretty tough on the fellow to receive such treatment.

See here, Senator Hoar, now, honest injun, suppose anyone had asked you two years ago in whom the sovereignty of the Philippines vested, what would you have said? Spain? Of course you would.

Our good senior Senator objected [illegible] because "right" and "justice" were not in it. We suppose the Senator from Indiana might have dropped in a dictionary—that would be all the way he could have gotten all the words in.

As Sir Thomas Sharkey announces that he would retire from pugilistic argumentation unless he can again debate with Gen. James Jeffries, this would seem to be an opportune time permanently to retire His Braggadocity.

To have paid $20,000,000 to her soldier sons, their wives, widows and children, since 1861 is a record any state in the Union might be proud of. That distinction belongs to Massachusetts!

Undeniably the State's interest in pending negotiations regarding the Boston & Albany road with the New York Central is serious. Keep you eye on legislation.

From the amount of "indignation" expressed in Germany over the seizure of the Bundesrath, this paper is inclined to think the British had good cause for seizing her. It has been our experience that the maddest man who comes into the office and wants to clean out the establishment, is the man about whom something has been published that is true.—Malden Mail.

We have always favored an appropriation by the State for the suppression of the gypsy moth. We have believed that intelligent, systematic work was essential to the extinction of a pest which bid fair to over-run the State, and even our neighboring states, and to bring upon our farmers and fruit growers hundreds of thousands of dollars damage. It does not seem to us, however, that the results that have been attained thus far are at all proportionate to the money they have cost, and at the same time those most vitally concerned in the destruction of the moth have been content to sit back and see the State do a work which quite as properly belonged to them to do, and which they, above all men, were directly interested in seeing done. We feel assured in our own minds that a considerable portion of the appropriations in past years has been wasted.

The Non-Irritating Cathartic

Easy to take, easy to operate—

Hood's Pills

The Portland Express says:

"The best and most successful advertising is that of the newspapers. The dodger, handbill, pamphlet and other doues of exploitation are ephemeral at the best. People rarely read them and resent the practice of sending them through the mails, or delivering them at their homes. The public expects to see advertisements in the newspapers. It recognizes the fact that they are a necessary part of the make-up of a live newspaper. It looks in the advertising columns for sources of supply."

Now, gentlemen of the City Committee, play fair. Remember that tricks are boomerangs. There are two roads open—one leads to party harmony and success—the other leads to party disruption and defeat, as surely as the sun rises and sets. The world moves right along and one generation forgets, if it ever knew about its predecessors plans, jealousies and plots. The time has gone by when a City Committee was its own law—the Public Statutes govern now.

There seems to be a marked difference of opinion between Senator Hoar and Admiral Dewey and Professor Schurman. And yet we can but believe that the two latter, who are familiar by experience with the Philippines, are right and our Senator is wrong. We do not doubt Senator Hoar's honesty, but cannot coincide with his judgment.

IN 1881.

A day or two ago, in looking over some newspaper clippings, we came across the following poem. The clipping was from the Boston Sunday Herald and dated March 13, 1881. It was accidentally left at the bottom of a long article on a totally different subject, but is reprinted as quite appropriate to present conditions from the Boer standpoint. The meter is a little lame, and so perhaps is the cause:

The War Song of the Boers

Hands off! Stand back! Leave us alone!
You shall not rob us of our own;
We will be free; We will be free!
God and right shall our standard be.

Our fathers' sweat and our fathers' blood
Have soaked the ground on which they stood;
Our mothers' tears, our mothers' toil
Have hallowed our blest Afric's soil.

This is our land; this is our land,
Reclaimed by our good fathers' hand;
Reclaimed by them, we claim it now
As a garden made by the yeoman's plough.

We ask but what to us was left,
Nor shall it from our grasp be reft—
For Fatherland and freedom we will die
Or live victoriously.

AT THE TREMONT.

Mr. Robert E. Johnson, manager for Miss Mary Sanders, is devoting all his energies to the production of Harry F. Mawson's "Little Nell, and [illegible] the presentation of this Dickens play the most complete in all its details that the American stage has [illegible] the scenery and property and costumes are being made and gathered under the direct supervision of Mr. Wm. Seymour. It is believed by those who have read Mr. Mawson's version of "Old Curiosity Shop" that he has succeeded in doing this, to a remarkable degree.

The play will be produced for the first time at the Tremont Theatre, Boston, Jan. 22, Miss Sanders playing the dual role. She is supported by such artists as Max Figman, John Jack, Chas. Stanley, Wm. Seymour, P. Aug. Anderson, H. J. Holliday, Lilly Eldridge and Annie Caverly.

Avoid all drying inhalants and use that which cleanses and heals the membrane. Ely's Cream Balm is such a remedy and cures Catarrh easily and pleasantly. Cold in the head vanishes quickly. Price 50 cents at druggists or by mail.

Catarrh caused difficulty in speaking and to a great extent loss of hearing. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm dropping of mucus has ceased, voice and hearing have greatly improved.—J. W. Davidson, Att'y at Law, Monmouth, Ill.

FLOUR IS RELEASED.

Foodstuffs Not Contraband of War Unless

Intended for the Enemy. Fatal Principal for England.

As She Depends on Outsiders for Large Supplies.

London, Jan. 11.—The American flour seized off Delagoa Bay has been released. Ambassador Choate had an interview with the Marquis of Salisbury yesterday afternoon and received a verbal reply to the representations of the Washington government.

The British note on this subject was sent later to the United States embassy. [illegible] gist of it was cabled to Washington. In brief, foodstuffs are not considered contraband of war unless intended for the enemy.

The foreign office only arrived at a decision yesterday, and it was not until after Mr. Choate's interview had ended that a note embodying the provisions was drawn up. Several of the government's advisers wanted to make a regulation regarding canned goods, but this was decided to be unpracticable.

The decision to make flour and grain in transit to the enemy contraband is evidently hedged in by many difficulties of execution. But the foreign office believes that investigation will generally determine whether the grain is really meant for consumption at Lorenzo Marquez or in the Transvaal.

Mr. Choate cabled Lord Salisbury's note to the state department at Washington last night, and Secretary Hay is expected to reply accepting the terms. The latter step was not taken by Mr. Choate, as he had first to receive authority from the state department to do so.

If the above accurately outlines England's policy as regards food in war times, it is pointed out that it may prove a terrible boomerang to her later. Her once safeguard in the event of a continental coalition against her, her one guarantee against starvation, would be her assurance that ample food supplies could reach her from the United States under our neutral flag. In a quite conceivable conjuncture it might become for England a matter of life and death to see upheld the principle, first, that free ships make free goods, and, secondly, that food is not a contraband of war.

It is true that during the first 15 years of this century England invariably treated food as contraband, but neither she nor any other country has done so since the promulgation of the treaty of Paris. No doubt, the food which keeps a soldier alive is quite as indispensable to him as the rifle with which he fires or the cartridge with which he loads it. It was upon this theory that during her wars against the French republic and empire England tried to starve out the French.

Now, however, the situation is altered. France and Germany are well-nigh self-supporting as regards food supplies, and Russia actually has a surplus of them for export. England, on the contrary, depends upon outsiders for a great preponderance of the food she needs. It is, doubtless, possible, just now, that the food supplies of the Transvaal and Orange Free State are growing short, but the Boers are still incomparably better off from this point of view than the inhabitants of Great Britian would be in the course of a few weeks after the outbreak of a war with continental powers, in case the shipment of grain from the United States were stopped, on the ground either that free ships do not make free goods, or that food must be considered contraband of war.

It was impossible for the British foreign office to defend the seizure of American flour, except upon one of two assumptions: First, that the principle that free ships make free goods is not applicable to the United [illegible] we did not sign the treaty of Paris, and [illegible] the terms of an agreement [illegible] by us with England in 1794; or, secondly, that food ought to be treated as contraband of war. Either assumption would be an egregious blunder on the part of a country, which, in event of a war with the continental powers, would be mainly dependent for its food supplies on neutral powers. If England cannot defeat the Boers without establishing such a fatal precedent, says a diplomat, it would be better for her future security to recall her soldiers from South Africa, and acknowledge the absolute independence of the Transvaal.

BRYAN ON EXPANSION.

Minneapolis, Jan. 11.—In an interview here W. J. Bryan said: "I am a firm believer in the enlargement and extension of the limits of the republic. Wherever there is a people who are capable of having voice and a representation in this government there the limits of the republic may be extended. The Filipinos are not such a people. The Democratic party has ever favored the extension of the limits of this republic, but it has never advocated the acquisition of subject territory to be held under colonial government."

BIG ORDERS FROM ABROAD.

Frankfort, Ind., Jan. 11.—Local manufacturers of gunstocks have received a rush order from the Transvaal for 125,000 stocks, to be shipped via New York to South Africa. The factory is also getting out 200,000 gun stocks for the German government.

A SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT.

Washington, Jan. 11.—It is reported at the home of General Greely that, while the attendant physician does not pronounce the general yet out of danger, his condition is slightly better.

Mr. James Benway, Whallonsburg, N. Y., says: "Two years ago my little son, Ernest, was taken with a terrible case of eczema so bad that his head was one complete scab. He had a good head of hair but the scab was so thick that we could not see a single hair on his head. When we carried him on our arm, the matter would drip off his head. We did not think he would live, but we gave him Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy and he got well and is now as bright and healthy a child as any and has no return of the disease. I send this letter for publication for the good of others."

If your child is sick or not feeling right, give it Dr. Greene's wonderful Nervura, which is purely vegetable and harmless. If you wish you can have the advice of Dr. Greene, 34 Temple Place, Boston, Mass., about your child free of charge. Write at once.

GREAT BUILDING YEAR.

One Hundred Permits Issued During 1899

By the Supt. of Buildings and Grounds.

Largest Number in the History of the City.

The year of 1899 will be recorded as the greatest in the building history of the city of Waltham. During the past year more permits were issued for new buildings, alterations and additions than on any previous year since the Department of Public Buildings and Grounds was established, the number of permits issued being an even one hundred. This number would without doubt have been considerably increased had not the price of building material advanced considerably the latter part of the year. Before this advance in price it is known that several parties were contemplating the erection of buildings, but they subsequently changed their minds.

Perhaps the largest buildings erected during the year or on which the work of construction was commenced are the new Training School for Nurses, Wadsworth block and the Bartlett & Illingsworth block, all brick structures.

The reports of the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds are made out from Jan. 31 of the previous year to Feb. 1 of the new year, and using these 12 months the following comparisons of the number of permits issued will be of interest:

For the year ending	Permits
Jan. 31, 1894	63
Jan. 31, 1895	68
Jan. 31, 1896	79
Jan. 31, 1897	58
Jan. 31, 1898	56
Jan. 31, 1899	75
To date, 1900	97

MOTHER'S CLASS.

A meeting of the Mothers' class was held at the Adams House, Wednesday afternoon, with a good number present. Mrs. Mudge of Natick read a very interesting and instructive paper on "The Association of Our Boys and Girls." She compared the social and domestic life of our country with that of India. She thought that, while we allowed more freedom in the association of our young people and that our way might be improved, yet it was better on the whole than the secluded domestic life in India.

Two small children were cared for in the Kindergarten Department.

ABOUT GAS AND ELECTRIC LIGHTING.....

A few things to remember. If you have any trouble with your gas or electric lights, complain of it directly to the office, and it will receive attention at once. Don't meddle with the meter or allow anyone but the Gas Co. to do so. The law requires this as well as safety to the household.

To get the best results in electric lighting, have good lamps they cost but little, and is mistaken economy to run them too long. It costs the company as much to run an old lamp as a new one.

British Further From Hostile Frontiers Than Ever.

London, Jan. 11.—During the interlude of apparent military inactivity and official secrecy, Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener have arrived at the seat of war. It is assumed that their clearer vision, supported by 35,000 fresh men who are due to arrive in South Africa within 30 days, will alter the situation, and that the fourth month of the campaign will witness the beginning of victories for the British arms.

They are not, however, expected to produce definite results for some days; but their mere presence will restore the shaken confidence of the men at the front in their generals.

Lord Roberts finds 120,000 men on the defensive or watching for an opening. Lord Methuen's health, according to The Daily Mail, has "broken down," and the field marshal may relieve him. Possibly some others will be relieved of important commands. There is certainly plenty of rank in evidence in South Africa. In addition to the field marshal, there are two full generals, four lieutenant generals and 12 or 14 major generals.

There is an uneasy suspicion that when the Ladysmith casualties are announced they will be disheartening and will partially destroy the patriotic glow produced by General White's "victory." The list of victims of disease issued by the war office gives 22 deaths from enteric fever and dysentery in Ladysmith in four days, revealing the fact that the besieged are existing amid bad sanitary conditions.

The Standard summarises the general situation thus: Well, the campaign has lasted three months. We have something like 120,000 troops in South Africa. With this huge army distributed over the country we are still powerless to relieve three garrisons from investment. We have still to see large portions of both colonies in the hands of the enemy.

We have driven the invaders back at no single point. We are actually further from the hostile frontiers than we were on the day that the ultimatum was delivered. The work which ministers believed could be effectually performed with 25,000 men has not been done, and not even been begun by four or five times that number. Can any one fail to admit that this is evidence of a grave miscalculation of forces and facts?

The war office has authorized a special yeomanry corps. Every trooper joining will pay for his own kit and mount, for transport and for all other expenses until his arrival in South Africa, and will then give his services to his country and pay for the privilege into the fund for widows and orphans the amount he would receive as a trooper. Several influential gentlemen have already enrolled.

The authorities have urged the committee of the yeomanry hospital fund to provide for 520 instead of 150 beds, and the committee is appealing for at least £50,000 more.

The Times, in an editorial criticising at great length the government's conduct of the war, alludes to the "stupid and perverse mistakes" that have been made and demands that the "practice of the non-revelation of facts" be abandoned. It insists strongly upon knowing "the truth and the whole truth about the situation," and finds fault with Mr. Balfour's defense piecemeal.

Sir Charles Dilke, speaking at Cinderford last night, said that Mr. Balfour, the government leader in the house of commons, had asserted that a sufficiency of steps had been taken by the government; considering the knowledge possessed at the time, but had [illegible] of the Boer armaments [illegible] pared to ask in the house of commons whether the government had taken sufficient steps—"the right steps, in the military situation, with due regard to the facts known at the time."

"The language Lord Salisbury employed in parliament," he continued, "constituted an unnecessary menace—the very thing which Mr. Balfour said it was a government's first duty to abstain from—and made war probable. More than this the government is responsible for the fact that at the outset of the war we were without guns enough for one army corps."

Sir Charles criticised the government's "refusal of capable colonial troops, qualified to ride and shoot, and their acceptance, instead of these, of 10,000 imperial yeomanry." Of the latter he said it had been alleged that they were neither good horsemen nor good shots. In his own opinion the yeomanry, he said, probably rode well enough, but there was a very grave doubt as to the shooting capabilities of a large percentage.

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail says: The Boer successes have been followed by a tremendous outburst of enthusiasm and Boer sympathy in the western part of the colony. Reports from Paarl say the whole district is made hideous at night by bands of young men parading in the villages and singing the Transvaal Volkslied, while the children are everywhere practising the national songs of the republics. The following are specimens of statements believed by the western Dutch. "Buller and Rhodes are prisoners," and "two thousand Boers secretly sailed and captured Cape Town."

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, telegraphing Monday, says: "The Boers assert that 80 natives fought on the side of the British at Kurman. They say that their object in capturing the place was to open the way for a commando to go south into the Prieska and Kenhardt districts, where the Boers hope to foment rebellion. It is reported that the Boer leaders allow every burgher to return home one week out of every seven."

COMMITTEES ANNOUNCED.

Boston, Jan. 11.—Speaker Myers has named the legislative committees. Upon the house coming to order yesterday the speaker read the committees. Howland of Chelsea is chairman of judiciary. Of the speakership candidates, Mr. Bennett of Saugus retains the chairmanship of agriculture, Mr. Saunders of Boston that of election laws, Mr. Reed of Taunton, although taken completely off railroads, of which he was ranking member, is given the chairmanship of fisheries and game. Mr. Schofield of Malden becomes chairman of state house, a very important committee in view of the extensive improvements to the state house grounds contemplated. Mr. Turtle of Pittsfield gets the chairmanship of railroads, one of the most desirable places under the speaker. The senate committees came in from President Smith. The house drew for seats after the assignment of the members.

A WHITE HOUSE RECEPTION.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The reception to the diplomatic corps, the first of the evening receptions at the White House this season, was held last night from 9 till 11 o'clock. Invited to meet the guests of the evening were the members of the cabinet, of both branches of congress, the supreme court, officers of the army and navy, and a contingent of resident society. The east room was decorated in its usual beautiful manner. The conservatory was thrown open, and the Marine band played. President and Mrs. McKinley received their guests in the blue parlor. Behind the line, and assisting the president and Mrs. McKinley, were a large number of the invited guests of the evening.

THE DEUTSCHLAND LAUNCHED.

Stettin, Jan. 11.—The Hamburg-American line steamer Deutschland was successfully launched at the Vulkan dock yard yesterday in the presence of Emperor William and many notable people. The minister of foreign affairs, Count Von Buelow, christened the vessel. After breaking a bottle of champagne across the steamer's bows Count Von Buelow said: "God bless and protect this ship. Protect the friendship and commerce between us and the United States." This statement was greeted with hearty applause. The Deutschland is a twin screw, 16,000-ton vessel, with engines of 35,000 horse power, and guaranteed to have a speed of 23 knots.

CROWD APPLAUDED VERDICT.

Chattanooga, Jan. 11.—The circuit court room was thronged with spectators at the closing scenes of the trial of Actress Julia Morrison James, for the murder of Frank Leidenheimer of the "Mr. Plaster of Paris" company, of which they were leading man and lady. When the verdict of not guilty was rendered, a tumult of applause went up from every person, and for 10 minutes it was impossible for the court officers to preserve order. The defendant, with eyes filled with tears, dramatically addressed the jurors, thanking them for the acquittal. She will go on the lecture tour, pointing out the dangers that confront young women on the stage.

BOTH WANT THE "BIG END."

Washington, Jan. 11.—Private reports that reach the diplomatic circles here from Paris indicate that the reciprocity treaty between the United States and France is in a hazardous position with more than a possibility of a defeat when it comes to the final vote in the French chambers. The administration here is filled with grave concern for the fate of the treaty in the United States senate, and thus the convention is in the singular position of being exposed to rejection by each party on the ground that it is favorable to the other.

DISASTERS OFF FRANCE.

Paris, Jan. 11.—Heavy gales are blowing along the entire French coast, and a number of small vessels, with [illegible] crews, have been lost, [illegible] ing boat foundered off Boulogne Sur Mer, nine of the crew perishing. The bark Jeanne Eugenie sank near Cherbourg and five persons were drowned. Heavy weather is reported from all Mediterranean ports.

BULLETS FOR TWO.

Wilmington, Del., Jan. 11.—Charles W. Pickel yesterday shot Mrs. Lizzie A. Graham, at whose house he boarded, inflicting wounds that will prove fatal. Then he shot himself, dying instantly. The tragedy occurred in the Graham house. In her deposition, Mrs. Graham says Pickel made improper proposals to her, and upon her refusal, shot her.

BLOODHOUNDS ON TRAIL.

Florence, Ala., Jan. [illegible] W. B. McClure of the probate court of Lauderdale county was assassinated Tuesday night. Early yesterday morning his body was found in the street. Judge McClure had been riddled with buckshot. Bloodhounds have been put on the track of the murderer.

Gloucester, Mass., Jan. 11.—Three of the four members of the fishing schooner Edith S. Whalen, who were reported as having been lost while trawling off the Nova Scotia coast New Year's day, are safe, having reached Tangier island in an exhausted and badly frozen condition.

ADVERTISE.

DON'T LIKE FIGHTING.

Insurgents Continue to Scatter Upon the Approach Americans. An Archbishop's Contentions

He Appears to Want About Everything in Sight.

Manila, Jan. 11.—Reports of the movements of the American commanders south of Manila show that General Bates and General Wheaton are at Perez Das Marinas, and General Schwan at Silang, all awaiting the arrival of provision wagons. Reconnaissances have shown that 2000 armed insurgents have retired to the mountains from the district between Indang and Maig, and that others have retreated along the coast from Noveleta toward Batangas.

Tuesday night Nolan's squadron of the Eleventh cavalry drove a body of insurgents from Maig. One American was killed and there were three wounded. Thirteen dead Filipinos were found.

The movement largely resembles General Schwan's experiences in the same country, except that the towns are now being garrisoned, and that the insurgents refuse to fight, retreating southward, and dividing into small bands, with the apparent intention of reassembling later. The plan of catching a large number between two brigades has failed. About 100 insurgents have been killed, but comparatively few arms have been taken.

The region is full of amigos, who doubtless have been bearing arms, which they have hidden. The women and children remain in their homes, and the insurgents, as they fall back, release all prisoners they have captured.

It is asserted, on high authority, that Archbishop Nozaleda contends, in his interviews with Mgr. Chappelle, the papal delegate, on behalf of the Roman church and the brotherhoods, that the titles to all property held by the church and the brotherhoods in the Philippines should be recognised; that the Roman catechism should be taught in the primary schools; that the existing religious orders should continue to administer to the parishes; that other parishes should be established, under the same control, and that the parochial control of cemeteries should continue.

He also lays stress, in his contentions, upon the importance of allowing the church to administer its own affairs without state interference; upon the necessity of a regime that will guarantee the liberty of the church; upon the desirability of European clergy, the establishment of a new college for the instruction of native priests, and the continuation of indirect contributions for the maintenance of churches and clergy, and upon the expediency of maintaining the system of parochial fees, including revenues from births, marriages, funerals, dispensations and apostolic indulgences.

In addition, Archbishop Nozaleda advocates the continuation of the church's control of pawn-shops and certain designated hospitals and schools, together with the establishment of parochial administration exacted by the actual conditions in the Philippines. Finally, he makes a plea for the continuance of the present missionary work of the church.

The inhabitants of the islands of Leyte and Semar are suffering from lack of food, resulting from the long blockade, the arbitrary confiscation of property and the levying of tribute by the so-called government of the Filipinos.

DISCOURAGED WOMAN'S DEED.

McPherson, Kan., Jan. 11.—Mrs. Joseph Christie last night cut the throats of her two children, both under 6 years old, then cut her own throat and set fire to the house. The children died at once, and Mrs. Christie died soon afterwards. On Monday her husband was arrested for drunkenness, and is now in jail because he could not pay his fine. He is a laborer, and has not been working steadily. It is supposed that worry [illegible] the family's condition led the wom[illegible]

CHARGE WITHDRAWN.

New York, Jan. 11.—The hearing of the abandonment case against Colonel John F. Gaynor, which had been pending for several days while Georgia A. Starr, the complainant, who said that she was Mrs. Gaynor, was being examined on a charge of larceny in another court, took place yesterday and the woman withdrew the charge. The case was then dismissed and the defendant discharged.

THE COLOMBIAN REVOLUTION.

Kingston, Jam., Jan. 11.—Colombian advices announce that the revolution in that republic is now thoroughly organized and uniformly successful in the interior. The censorship is so rigid and direct communication with the coast is so interrupted that no authentic details regarding the actual situation are known. Business, consequently, is paralyzed along the coast.

TOOK CHANCES WITH UNKNOWN.

Cherokee, Kas., Jan. 11.—Dr. L. J. Forney, a prominent physician, was found dead in his office yesterday. On a table were bottles of morphine, aconite and chloroform, and a note saying: "I had rather leap into the unknown than longer endure what I know." Forney had suffered from inflammatory rheumatism.

LIGHTER MAN WON.

Brockton, Mass., Jan. 11.—Harvey Parker of this city defeated Leo Pardello of New York, best two out of three falls, at wrestling here last night. Parker weighs 142, while Pardello, who is Roeber's wrestling partner, weighs about 190 pounds.

Supper and Dance Under the Auspicies of R. T. A. Society.

There was an unusually large attendance at the regular monthly supper and dance held in Spruce Street hall Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the Reynold Total Abstinence society.

The gastronomic festivities were from 6 to 7.30 o'clock and were participated in by about 150 hungry people, who did full justice to the good things placed before them. The committee in charge of the supper included Mrs. M. M. Dunham, Mrs. Annie Blaisdell, Mrs. Lizzie Dorr, Mrs. Emma Clark and Mrs. Emily McKernal.

At 8 o'clock the terpsichorean festivities commenced and continued until midnight, the music being furnished by Wildman's orchestra. The floor was in charge of T. F. Dunham, assisted by Mrs. Emma Clark.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

If there is any common plane on which ultra-fashionable society truly meet the public at large half way it is in relation to the prevailing "coon" fad. At the theatre for two or three years no song has been more popular than the "coon" song. The unique style of "coon" comedy never fails to create cyclones of mirth where the every day comedian can only raise a slight breeze of smiling approval. [illegible] larger sale at the music stores than those which melodiously describe the joys or troubles of the "coon."

The "coon" cake walk is a never failing source of amusement and entertainment. In the admiration of all these things all classes of people join.

Society last season was particularly partial to "coon" amusements among themselves. In the list of the New York 400's swellest social functions, one who would be specially "smart" forsook the customary grand ball affair, which has served for time immemorably, and substituted a cake walk affair. That this fad as far as society is concerned was not an ephemeral matter has been evidence this season at Newport, where the very elite of that fashionable resort's summer colony seemed to have gone fairly "coon" mad.

Mr. Graham's name in this part of the country has always stood for that which is most up to date and best in the way of "coon" entertainment and has introduced many novelties in this line. Whatever is latest, and it is said there are lots of new wrinkles in "coon" comedy and song this season, will be found conspicuously exploited. The cake walk, for which particular colored feature Mr. Graham has always held the palm, will be more elaborate than ever season.

If you want to hear all the latest "coon" songs they may be listened to in this Graham entertainment.

EXPLOSION

The Cause for the Alarm From Box 13.

Accident Occurred at the Store of P. H. Graves & Son.

An Acetylene Gas Tank Does Not Work as it Should.

People in the vicinity of the store of P. H. Graves & Son on Moody street about 7.30 o'clock Wednesday evening were considerably startled by an explosion, the report of which sounded similar to that of a cannon. Almost simultaneously with the report was the sound of the breaking glass, and this was followed by an alarm from Box 13, which summoned the fire department to the scene of disaster.

The cause of all this commotion was an explosion of the acetylene gas machine which was recently installed in the basement of Mr. Graves' store. The accident to the machine is one that is easily repaired, and occurred because the clamps which fasten the "retainer" to the "generator" were not strong enough. For some reason the gas as fast as it was being made did not pass into the gasometer as it should have done, but remained in the "retainer" and kept forcing the "bell" upwards. Finally one of the clamps which fastens the "retainer" to the "generator" gave way and was followed by the others. The "bell" then rose up and fell over on to the floor, striking on its way Roy C. Wells, the representative of the Acetylene Gas company, who was standing beside the machine at the time of the accident, and covering him with line. As soon as the gas and air met the explosion occurred.

Had the gasometer become over charged with gas there is a pipe leading from it to the sidewalk, through which the extra supply would have escaped and making it impossible for an explosion. But, as stated, on Wednesday evening the gas made fast, but did not pass into the gasometer. Consequently something had to give way, and it was the "bell" of the "retainer." The machine itself was not damaged [illegible] the breaking of the clamps.

It seems marvelous that Roy C. Wells, who was close beside the machine, was not seriously injured, but such is the fact. He says he did not hear the explosion and only saw the flash of fire. Peter Linder, who stood some little distance from the gas plant, was badly burned and had his hair singed.

So great was the shock from the explosion that one of the side windows to the doorway was blown out and six windows in the second story broken. The heavy plate glass in a rear door was blown out, yet the thin window glass in the office was not broken. At the head of the stairway leading from the basement was a closet filled with lamp chimneys, which had been packed away there during the day. These were all broken. A silk shade on a lamp standing near the [illegible] stairway was raised up over a gas fixture and landed in the office across the store.

Out on the street the sidewalk and street was filled with broken glass. Some of the glass from the second story windows was blown clear across Moody street and part way up Gordon street, which shows the great force of the explosion.

The fire apparatus was quickly on the scene and the slight blaze was extinguished with pony chemicals.

A man who was passing along almost in front of the store at the time of the explosion jumped three feet in the air, while a young boy in the vicinity took to his heels, probably thinking the Boers has transferred their scene of operation and were commencing to shell the city.

The damage resulting from the explosion will not exceed $500, of which about $300 is on the building, including the broken windows.

This morning the insurance adjusters visited the store and looked over the building and the stock. After making their estimates they departed, but it is said that there will be no trouble in the settlement for the loss occasioned by the explosion.

FELL TO DEATH

Did Nathaniel F. Cousens of Lincoln,

Was Climbing a Ladder When It Slipped.

When Found Unfortunate Man Was Breathing His Last.

Nathaniel F. Cousens, a most highly esteemed and respected citizen of Lincoln, met with a fatal accident Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Cousens was intending to repair a window light in an upper part of a barn, and was climbing a ladder on his way when he met with the accident.

Mr. Cousens had placed the ladder to the first scaffold in the barn and had safely reached that place. He then drew up the ladder and placing the foot of it on the first scaffold, leaned it against a second one on the opposite side of the barn. He had evidently nearly reached the second scaffold when the ladder slipped and Mr. Cousens was thrown to the floor of the barn, some 15 feet below.

No one witnessed the accident, and Mr. Cousens must have laid on the floor for some time, for there was quite a pool of blood where he struck. Mr. Cousens struck on his face, and was probably rendered unconscious. He subsequently crawled to some hay, where he was breathing his last when found.

Mr. Cousens was discovered by some children late in the afternoon, who had gone to the barn to feed a cat they had there. The children were frightened and ran out upon the street, where they met a man to whom they told the story. He started for a doctor, and as soon as they arrived back Mr. Cousens breathed his last. The deceased is survived by a widow, who was a daughter of Dan[illegible] children, who are widely scattered as to residence.

Mr. Cousens was a man possessing remarkably fine qualities. He was a kind and loving husband and father, and at the time of his death was 67 years of age. He was a member of the Lincoln Congregational church.
